

Ahead of setting next year's policing budget, the Police & Crime Commissioner (PCC) is seeking the views of communities across Herefordshire, Shropshire, Telford and Wrekin and Worcestershire in a public survey. With the Covid pandemic placing an impact on the economy, and wider public finances, there are greater uncertainties than usual as we head towards next year's policing budget. Therefore, the PCC wants to ensure that, when it comes to it, the public's views are at the heart of his decision making. The survey will ask people about their priorities, what it's like in their community from a policing perspective, and in which areas of policing would they choose to spend more or less money.

The survey will run from Monday 5th October to Monday 2nd November. To complete it, click on the following link-
